Description Grade:

| Requirement | Incomplete / Does not Meet Expectations 0 – 1 (1=50) | Minimally Meets Expectations 2 (2=72) | Meets Expectations 3 (3=88) | Exceeds Expectations 4 (4=100) |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Compelling: Theory Accuracy & Application | No theories from our course materials have been included (0) / Theories are vaguely referenced. | Theoretical elements from our course materials are included, but terminology may not be explained or presented accurately. Application to project focus is unmotivated or unclear. | Theories are presented clearly and mostly accurately (no major underlying flaws in logic); terminology is explained mostly accurately. Application to project focus is clear, but may not be sufficiently motivated. | Theories are presented clearly and accurately (underlying logic is clear); terminology is explained accurately. Application to project focus is clear and well-motivated (project exemplifies what theories are about). |
| Compelling: Argumentation/ Interpretation (Analysis and Synthesis) | No argument or interpretive framework presented in description (0) / Argument or interpretive framework too vague to discern (1). | Chosen medium offers an interpretative framework, but argument for interpreting X as the student intends is not motivated in description. Project focus does not synthesize theory + example/creation clearly. | Chosen medium offers interpretative framework and argumentative position is mostly clear in description (argument for interpreting X as the student intends is mostly motivated). Project focus may not synthesize theory + example/creation fully. | Chosen medium offers interpretative framework and argumentative position is clear in description (argument for interpreting X as the student intends is fully motivated). Project focus synthesizes theory + example/creation clearly and fully. |
| Compelling: Completeness | A complete project (project + description) is not present (0) / Project missing one or more crucial element -or- description is perfunctory (1). | Complete project is presented, but one or more components (theory, interpretative framework, synthesis) is missing or significantly underdeveloped. Description may be perfunctory. | Complete project covers most relevant aspects of the chosen topic/theme and includes most relevant theories from our course materials. Description is clear and motivated, but some connections to course materials may be missing. | Complete project covers all relevant aspects of the chosen topic/theme and thoughtfully includes relevant theories from our course materials. Description is clear and motivated; connections to course materials are comprehensive. |
| Effective: Well-crafted Execution | Project is not presented (0) / Project presentation is disorganized or unclear (1). | Project presentation is somewhat disorganized, such that the meaning of the project and/or connection(s) to course theories is unclear, making comprehension difficult. Some major errors (spelling, grammar, accuracy) present. | Project presentation is organized and project meaning comes across clearly. No major errors, but some minor errors may hinder comprehension. Presentation comes across as genuine and truthful. | Project presentation is organized and clear. No major errors; easy to comprehend project scope and meaning. Presentation comes across as genuine and truthful. |
| Effective: Appropriate Medium | No project submitted (0) / Project does not relate to description – or- project does not relate to a topic/theme of the course (1). | The format/medium chosen does not clearly convey what the project description claims. The medium chosen is not appropriate to capture the student's chosen topic/theme or does not connect to a topic/theme of the course. | The format/medium chosen conveys what the project description claims in a way that is clear to comprehend. The medium effectively produces a connection to a topic/theme of the course. | The format/medium chosen conveys what the project description claims in a way that is clear to comprehend and offers a nuanced take on the topic/theme such that new interpretations of the topic/theme are suggested or presented. |
